

---

The image displays a 20x20 grid of squares. Each square is defined by solid lines, and within each square, there is a dashed line forming a smaller, centered square. This layout is typical of graph paper used for drawing or mathematics. The grid is positioned below a single horizontal line.

